Join a Powerful Network of Women Protecting Our Planet

At Rachel's Network, we are a diverse and dynamic community of women funders, leaders, and advocates united by a shared mission: to elevate and support fellow women working to repair environmental harm and injustice and advance a regenerative and equitable future.

As we look to grow our collective impact, we invite you to join our network and strengthen your role in this transformative movement.

Together, We Are Stronger and More Effective

Every day, the threats to our planet grow more urgent, but women, especially those in Rachel's Network, are leading the solutions. Our members don't just support the movement; they shape it, using their resources, service, networks, and expertise to fight for environmental justice and health, biodiversity, climate solutions, democracy, and more.

By joining Rachel's Network, you'll connect with women who are passionate about environmental stewardship and social equity. You'll gain access to educational events, thought leadership, networking resources, and opportunities to make a direct impact through collective giving. You'll discover new partners and friends, and find strength in community as we work together to address the most pressing environmental issues of our time.

Why Your Commitment Matters

Joining Rachel's Network isn't just a gift, it's an investment in the future. Your support enables us to scale our work, from expanding our Catalyst Award for women of color in environmental leadership to fostering critical conversations on climate, biodiversity, and justice. With your help, we can grow our ranks and supercharge the movement for a safer, healthier, and more just world.

What Your Membership Gift Enables

Your support powers Rachel's Network's bold, transformative work. Together, we will:

Strengthen Networks for Change

Research shows* that people dealing with complex, intractable problems have more success in effective networks. Rachel's Network creates brave spaces for collaboration, learning, and action and a stronger, more connected environmental movement.

Uplift Women Leaders

Women are more reliable supporters of environmental protection, but their environmental work receives less than 1% of philanthropic funding. Women of color are especially underfunded in the environmental space. We work to address this by prioritizing these leaders in our collective funding and events.

Make Progress on Environmental Issues

The presence of women in decisionmaking positions is linked to more ambitious environmental policies and programs. By supporting women leaders, we're making a difference on climate change, biodiversity, health, environmental justice, regenerative agriculture, and so much more.

Prioritize Under-Resourced and Overlooked Funding Opportunities

Through our Catalyst program, we fund women of color leaders and their organizations that are often overlooked by big donors. Beyond financial support, we actively champion, network, and elevate these leaders and their work.

Foster a Caring Culture

Members of collective giving groups report positive impacts to their wellbeing (physically, mentally, and/or spiritually), and we see it firsthand in member feedback. We also build care into everything we do, from hosting restorative retreats for grassroots leaders, to funding individual wellbeing as a vital component of environmental work.

Advance Trust-Based Philanthropy

Trust-based philanthropy envisions a world where funders and grantees collaborate with a shared sense of accountability to the communities they serve and support. We practice these principles in our collective giving through multi-year grants, streamlining paperwork, and giving "beyond the check," among other approaches. Our members are shifting philanthropy to be more accountable, responsive, effective, and joyful.

Please join us in empowering women to lead bold environmental solutions and drive lasting change. By becoming a member, you'll be part of a powerful network of women funders and advocates working together for a healthier, more sustainable planet. Your support ensures that women's voices and leadership continue to shape a better future for all. Join today and help fuel the solutions the world needs now.
